

Refugees and Migrants: The Role of Judges and Lawyers

Thursday, 8 June 2017, 10:30 to 11:30
Room XXI, Palais des Nations, Geneva

The International Commission of Jurists (ICJ) invites you to a panel discussion on the role of judges and lawyers in upholding human rights and the rule of law for refugees and migrants.

The panel is being held on the occasion of the publication of ICJ Principles and Commentary on the topic, developed in consultation with judges, lawyers and other expert practitioners from around the world.

Welcome remarks:

Saman Zia-Zarifi, Secretary General of the ICJ.

Olivier Coutau, Délégué à la Genève internationale, Republic and Canton of Geneva

Panelists:

François Crépeau, UN Special Rapporteur on the human rights of migrants.

Carole Simone Dahan, Senior Legal Advisor on Judicial Engagement, UNHCR.

Pia Oberoi, Advisor on Migration and Human Rights, OHCHR.

The discussion will be moderated by Matt Pollard, ICJ Senior Legal Adviser.

For more information, visit www.icj.org or email un@icj.org

Made possible with the support of the Republic and Canton of Geneva